IASA Accepting Applications from InsurTechs for 2019 Business Show

Insurance industry association IASA announces that it's now accepting company applications for 2019 InsurTech Pavilion

Durham, North Carolina – December 3, 2018 – IASA, a nonprofit association representing insurance carriers, solution providers, and other industry constituents, is now accepting applications for participation in the IASA InsurTech Pavilion during the IASA Annual Conference. A limited number of InsurTechs will be awarded a complimentary exhibit kiosk within the Pavilion. Interested firms are encouraged to submit an application via the IASA website. The application deadline is January 31, 2019.

Showcasing InsurTech Solutions

Building on the success of the 2018 pavilion, the expanded 2019 InsurTech Pavilion will again be located within the exhibit hall at the IASA Annual Conference. The IASA InsurTech Pavilion provides conference attendees an up-close experience with a diverse group of InsurTechs. Participating companies will showcase their unique solutions and offer a glimpse into the InsurTech phenomenon that's sweeping the insurance industry.

The IASA Annual Conference will be held June 2-5, 2019 in Phoenix, AZ. The IASA conference is the premier event for insurance industry professionals, with a practical focus on technology, InsurTech, finance, professional development, operations, and additional trending industry topics. Attendees are given the opportunity to network with peers and hear from industry thought leaders while being immersed in an industry exclusive event. Companies interested in participating in the InsurTech Pavilion should submit an application by January 31, 2019.
