13. Why are their different dues rates for companies?

IASA offers three (3) tiers for companies to join, based on size – Small, Regular, and Holding Company. The annual fees associated with these tiers are as follows:

- Small Company membership is available to sole proprietors, partnerships or other such organizations that have less than $25 million dollars in annual revenue and no more than 3 employees (company affiliates). The annual dues for Small Company membership are $500.

- Regular Company membership is for mid-sized companies. All individuals linked to a regular company member, at a common location; qualify for IASA member status and benefits. Regular companies can enroll as many of their staff (company affiliates) at their location as they choose. The annual dues for Regular Company membership are $850.
- Holding Company membership includes all affiliated legal entities and regional offices for a company. All individuals linked to a holding company member, along with any affiliated subsidiary company, qualify for IASA member status and benefits and companies can enroll as many of their staff (company affiliates) as they choose. The annual dues for Holding Company membership are $2,550.

14. For Company Members, how many individuals at my firm/company are eligible to receive IASA Member Benefits?

- Small companies may enroll up to three (3) professionals under their membership.
- Regular companies can enroll an unlimited number of professionals under their membership – if they work at or out of the main address associated with the account.
- Holding companies receive the best value for their membership dollar! They can offer an unlimited number of professionals under their membership – either at their main address or any subsidiary location.

15. How can our company get the most for our membership dues?

Depending on your company's membership category (Small, Regular, or Holding), you can maximize your membership by adding as many relevant staff members as allowed to your roster.

The value of IASA membership per professional is estimated to be $1,800 annually. That's a tremendous ROI for our member companies and their employees.

16. When adding to our IASA roster, which members of our staff team should we consider including under our company's membership?

IASA strives to be the professional home for all insurance professionals. Historically, the individuals associated with our member companies have worked in Accounting/Finance or Systems/IT.

As we work to become more inclusive and expand our educational offerings and benefits, the following professionals are becoming more engaged with our organization, including Claims Adjusters/Appraisers/Examiners, Sales Agents, Actuaries, Underwriters, Marketing, and HR professionals.
