IASA OPENS CALL FOR CONTENT – JUNE 2025 ANNUAL CONFERENCE

TIMBERLAKE, NC (July 1, 2024) – The Call for Content for IASA’s Xchange annual conference held June 8–10, 2025, in St. Louis, is now open. Each year, the Call for Content is extended to professionals in the insurance industry requesting topic and speaker session proposals to enhance the educational program.

The Xchange conference and tradeshow offers roughly 35 educational sessions over the course of three days including tracks in Accounting and Finance, Enterprise Risk Management, Professional Development, Technology, and Executive Education. The event also includes an exhibition tradeshow, networking receptions, and social events, which draw more than 500 attendees each year.

Topics of interest for the June 2025 program include:

- Tax, Bond, NAIC, GAAP, and more
- Cybersecurity and data security
- Workforce trends and generational differences
- Specific use cases of AI in insurance
- Geopolitical risk and election-year economic forecasts

A full list of topics can be found at iasa.org/proposal.

If you are a subject matter expert or know one who fits the areas above, click here to read the requirements for submitting a proposal. All speaking proposals are due by August 31, 2024. Speaker acceptances will be announced in October 2024.

"Speaking at the IASA Xchange conference is a unique opportunity to position yourself as a thought leader, share your valuable expertise, and contribute to the growth and development of our professional community," shares IASA's Executive Director, Kim Nicholl-Keane. "We encourage all industry experts to submit their proposals and join us in making this event an enriching experience for all attendees."
